

DEMOCRATS TO RECEIVE BRYAN

Will Endeavor To Outdo The Taft Reception
At Madison Tomorrow Afternoon.

PLANS FOR OVERFLOW MEETING

Nebraska Man Talks To The Farmers' Convention On Non-Partisan Subject—Latter Will Give His Campaign Oration On University Campus.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Sept. 25.—Democrat of Madison and Milwaukee are determined to make a great occasion of the visit of Bryan to this state tomorrow. The democrats are quite disappointed because of the humorous feeling following the strenuous debate Wednesday morning in the republican convention over the tariff and "Mary Ann" planks proposed by the La Follette people in the minority report. While the debate was going on in the supreme court room, democrats, including Congressman J. W. Murphy of Plattville, rubbed their heads in glee out in the halls and chuckled over the "big split" among the republicans, which the democrats thought would mean thousands of votes for the Bryan and Aylward ticket.
But when the debate was over and the votes taken, the republican convention made a surprising return to harmony and the delegates who had denounced each other in the conflict fraternized and joined hands against the common democratic enemy. Then the democrats were disappointed.
Following this came the Taft meeting here yesterday morning, at which Senator La Follette lauded Mr. Taft and heaped on words of harmony. Now the democrats are putting forth every effort to make the Bryan meeting a bigger one than the Taft gathering. In the hope of making it appear that the democratic leader is more attractive than the republican presidential nominee.
It is said that a delegation of 100 prominent democrats will come out from Milwaukee and escort Bryan to the Cream City, and that it will be necessary to hold an overflow meeting on the university campus here to gratify the thousands who will be unable to crowd into the gymnasium, the capacity of which hall is not more than 4,000 people.
This is not at all improbable, for delegates and visitors to the Farmers' National congress are arriving at the rate of 1,500 a day. There are already enough farmers' congress guests here to crowd the gymnasium.
Another reason for an overflow meeting is the fact that the speech of Bryan in the farmers' congress hall is expected to be non-political in character, while at an overflow meeting in the open air he would be at liberty to make a purely campaign speech.
To the congress he will speak on the subject, "The Relation of the Farmer to Public Questions." Bryan has been a frequent visitor to Madison, having spoken in Madison twice before during the present year, many times in previous campaigns and at the Wisconsin State Assembly chautauque sessions, as well as in university lecture courses.
Another reason for an overflow meeting is the fact that the speech of Bryan in the farmers' congress hall is expected to be non-political in character, while at an overflow meeting in the open air he would be at liberty to make a purely campaign speech.

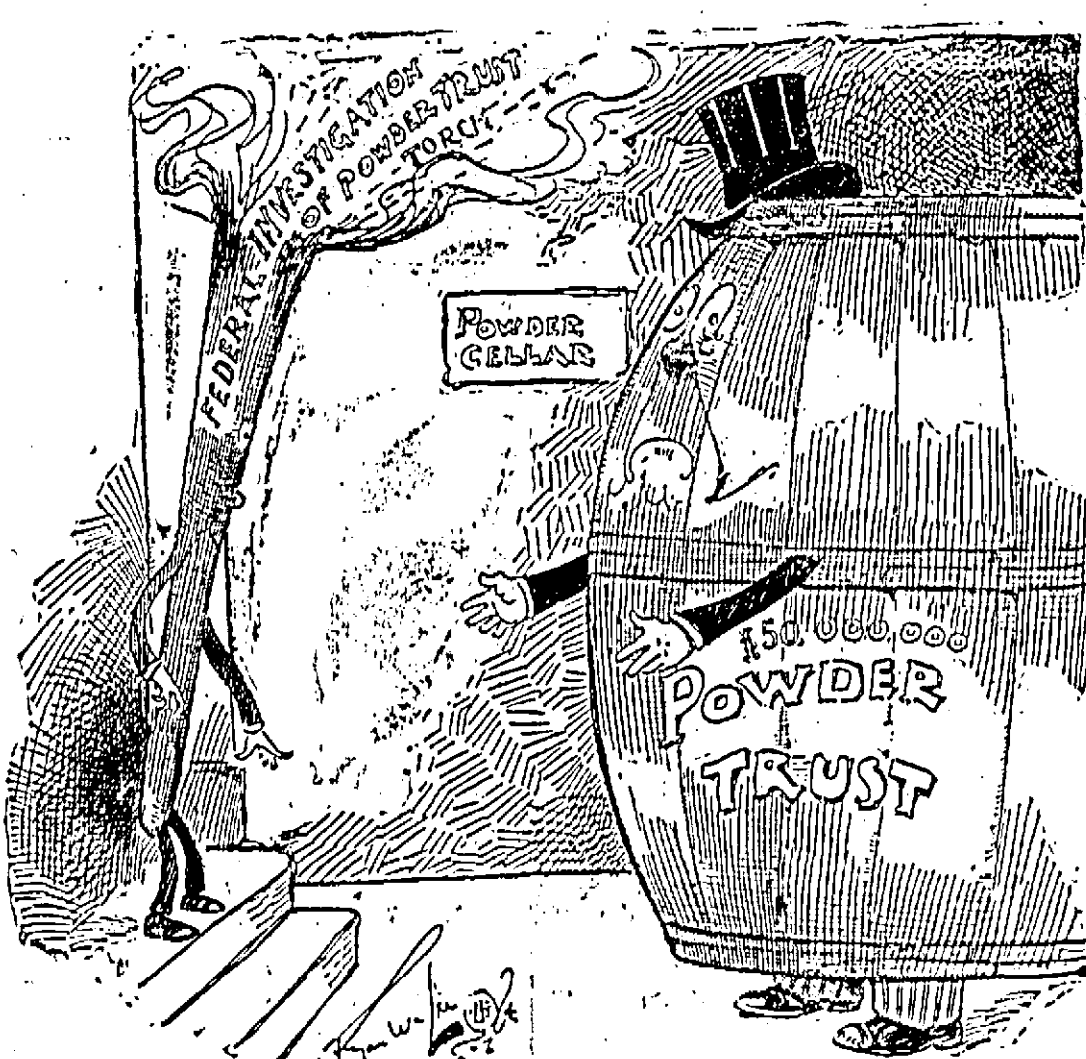

TAFT'S WIFE WATCHES HIS CAMPAIGN VERY CLOSELY

Enjoys The Excitement Of The Campaign And Discusses His Plans With Him.

William Howard Taft, the republican nominee for president, who spoke here yesterday has no closer friend nor warmer supporter in his campaign than his wife, Mrs. Taft is heart and soul engaged in the campaign of her distinguished husband. She wants him to be president of the United States. This "colleagueship" statement might suggest that Mrs. Taft is keenly ambitious and coldly political. But such is far from the case. Mrs. Taft is a pleasant, sociable, interesting and attractive woman, who believes thoroughly in the abilities of her husband, and is entirely of the opinion that there is nothing on earth too good for him. She thinks that only the best life has to offer is great and good enough for her husband, and if the concentrated power of the two be inactive in her self imposed campaign duties and never so annoyed with the trouble of a public career as to be impatient with her position. Indeed, she is the one who first started this presidential agitation in the Taft family, and she means to see it properly through. Throughout the campaign and their possible solution, and if her husband wins the presidency it will not be the first time in his public career that he has succeeded, in part at least by more than once following the womanly instincts of his talented wife. Of all the women in high places in the political life of Washington, Mrs. Taft is said to be the only one who does not keep a social secretary. She does all of the planning and ordering of her own invitations and makes the invitations herself. In fact, Mrs. Taft is one of the hardest workers in the entire family.

SECOND CONVENTION OF THE UNEMPLOYED

Gathering Has Been Arranged by J.
Eads How, "The Friend of the Hoboes."

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Sept. 25.—The second national convention of the unemployed opened in this city today and will continue until some time next week. The gathering has been arranged by J. Eads How, "the friend of the hoboes," and several other philanthropists of a practical (or impracticable) turn of mind. The promoters of the convention declare that great benefits will result from the proceedings. The various presidential candidates have been unable to accept the invitation to address the convention but it is expected that other representatives of the several political parties will speak.

REHEARSE A PLAY ABOARD STEAMER

Thomas Dixon, Jr., Will Make His Debut as an Actor in
"The Traitor."
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Sept. 25.—Thomas Dixon, Jr., the author, and Channing Pollock, who dramatized "The Traitor," together with a company of forty persons engaged to present the play throughout the South, left New York today on a specially chartered steamer for Norfolk, where the play is to have its first presentation next Monday night. A unique feature of the trip will be the dress rehearsals, which will be held aboard the steamer. Much interest is attached to the fact that Mr. Dixon is to make his debut as an actor in the play, being slated for the part of the mountaineer.

HEBRAIC NEW YEAR BEGAN AT SUNSET

Will Be Beginning of the Year 5669
According to the Jewish Calendar.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Sept. 25.—The setting of the sun this evening ushered in the celebration of Rosh Hashanah, or the Festival of the New Year. This is the beginning of the year 5669 of the Hebrew calendar, which is traditionally supposed to count from the creation of the world. The festival is observed by the reformed and orthodox alike, except that the former observe one and the latter two days. It is a season of rejoicing, and many families become reunited during its celebration.
While New Year's day services are of a solemn character, as are the 10 days that follow, the most solemn day of the year is Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, which will come as a climax to the ten days of penitence.
Elaborate preparations for the New Year and other holiday services have been made by the Jewish congregations throughout the metropolis. In addition to the regularly established congregations worshipping all the year round in places of worship owned or regularly rented by them, many improvised synagogues are needed for the New Year services because of the great number of Jews, on the lower East Side especially, who do not belong to any established congregation, but who desire to take part in the celebration of the festival. Therefore every available hall and place of public meeting on the East Side, many in Harlem and in the Bronx, have been fitted up as temporary places of worship.
A handsome new synagogue is to be thrown open for the first time to the holding of the New Year services tonight. This is the new Temple Anshe Chesed in Harlem. The services in this temple will be what is called the conservative orthodox, and an innovation will be a vested choir of mixed voices, the only choir of this character in any Jewish synagogue.

Manila, Sept. 25.—The epidemic of cholera is believed to have reached its height and to be diminishing. More extensive reports regarding the southern typhoon that swept through the central section of the Philippine group yesterday indicate while the loss of life was slight.

HASKELL DENIES HE WILL RESIGN PLACE

Says That the Reports About Him Are All False and That He Will Retain His Office.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 25.—Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma passed through the city early today en route for Chicago to confer with W. J. Bryan and the democratic national committee. Gov. Haskell denied that he intended to resign his position as treasurer of the democratic national committee. Regarding W. R. Hearst's charge compelling him with the steel trust, Haskell said he felt highly honored with being classed with such men as Carnegie and J. P. Morgan. He declared President Roosevelt "is the biggest four-day busker in the political business today," and added: "You ought to hear what they think of Haskell in Oklahoma."

STATE FAIR ON IN SPRINGFIELD TODAY

Illinois State Fair Opens With Big Exhibition of Live Stock and Machinery.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 25.—With the promise of being more successful than any of its predecessors, the annual State Fair had its formal opening today. The fair grounds presented a lively appearance this morning, with the scores of exhibitors putting the final touches to their displays. The entries of live stock of all kinds and of race horses are large, while the agricultural, horticultural, manufacturing and other exhibits are better than those of any other year. Automobile races, athletic contests and a variety of other free attractions have been provided for the entertainment of the visitors.

GOETHAL MILLIONAIRE IS 83 YEARS OF AGE

D. Ogden Mills Laid Foundations of Fortune in California in Days of '48.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Sept. 25.—D. Ogden Mills, the dean of New York's multimillionaires, was eighty-three years old today. Mr. Mills, though a native New Yorker, laid the foundation for his colossal fortune in California during the days of the gold fever and he still retains large interests in that state. For a man of his years he is unusually vigorous both mentally and physically. Recently he returned from England where he attended the wedding of his granddaughter, Miss Jean Reid, daughter of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, to the Hon. John Ward.

NEW FRANKLIN UNION DEDICATED IN BOSTON

$5,000 Bequest Has Now Reached Half Million Mark Through Lapse Of Time.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Boston, Mass., Sept. 25.—One hundred and eighteen years after the death of Benjamin Franklin the city of Boston today came into possession of a handsome bequest left by that far-sighted statesman-philosopher to loving remembrance of the city of his birth. After the lapse of more than a century, during which time the modest bequest of Franklin had grown to large proportions, the Franklin Union has become an accomplished fact. The handsome building erected at the corner of Berkeley and Appleton streets, and which will stand for years to come as a permanent memorial to the practical wisdom of the donor, was dedicated this afternoon with interesting exercises.

The clause in Benjamin Franklin's will which resulted in the erection of the Franklin Union was as follows: "I was born in Boston, Nov. 17, 1706, and own my first instructions in literature to the Free Grammar School established there. I have therefore already considered these schools in my will. But I am also under obligations to the State of Massachusetts for having unasked appointed me formerly their Agent in England with a handsome salary, which continued some years. I have considered that among Americans, good Apprentices are most likely to make good Citizens, and having myself been bred to a manual Art Printing, in my native Town, and afterward assisted to set up my business in Philadelphia by kind loan of money from two Friends there, which was the foundation of my Fortune, and of all the utility in life that may be ascribed to me, I wish to be useful even after my death, if possible, in forming and advancing other young men that may be serviceable to their Country in both those Towns. To this end I do vote Two Thousand Pounds Sterling, which I give, one thousand thereof to the inhabitants of the Town of Boston, in Massachusetts, and the other thousand to the Inhabitants of the City of Philadelphia, in Trust to and for the Use, Interest and Purposes hereinafter mentioned and declared."

the city of Boston was to be let out in small sums to apprentices in the trades during the period of one hundred years, and at the end of that time 100-131 of its was to be used for public improvement of the city, the remainder to remain at interest for another century and then to be divided between the city and state. The first hundred years passed, and twenty-five more were consumed in debate as to details of management and expenditure. At the end of that time the 100-131, amounting to about $400,000, was used to build the handsome structure dedicated today, and to the amount has been added by Andrew Carnegie an equal sum as endowment. The building is a handsome, fireproof structure of five stories. Class rooms are distributed throughout the building on every floor, and there are large draughting rooms, studios, laboratories and special lecture rooms for chemistry and physics. On the first floor are grouped the lobby or exhibition room—the latter for the display of industrial material of various kinds—the offices of administration, the library and the large lecture hall, seating nearly 1,000 persons, and designed carefully and scientifically to meet every requirement of proportion, ventilation, acoustics, light and convenience.

The lobby or exhibition hall is about fifty feet square and is treated in wrought iron and rare marbles. The frieze consists of a series of panels each containing a painting to illustrate a trait of Franklin's many-sided character. Each group is flanked by smaller panels bearing inscriptions from "Poor Richard's Almanac." The paintings are arranged chronologically and thus afford to graphic biography of the great man by whose philanthropy the building was established. The Franklin Union will be opened to students next Monday. Classes will be offered especially for foremen, mechanics and others engaged in manufacturing or building industries. There will also be courses in shop formulas, steam, industrial chemistry, mathematics for builders, mechanics, machine drawing and industrial electricity.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Senator Foraker has prepared a statement which will be made public tonight replying to the recent charges made by Hearst and Roosevelt. In addition he bitterly assails Hearst, Taft, and President Roosevelt, charging Taft with conspiring with Standard Oil magnates and himself declaring Roosevelt's action to indicate a guilty conscience.

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED IN BAD TRAIN WRECK

Reported That Northern Pacific Train Crashed Into Another Near Youngs Point.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Livingstone, Mont., Sept. 25.—A Northern Pacific passenger train east-bound, which left Helena at midnight last night, collided with a freight train at Youngs Point and 25 persons, including the engineer, fireman and brakeman were killed. Later reports place the number of casualties at thirty to forty with twenty-five dead. Snow was falling and for this reason the freight train flagman could not make his presence known to the passenger engineer. The express car telescoped the smoker and practically all the casualties occurred in the latter car.

DOLLAR DAMAGES FOR JOHN KRUEGER

Jury Returned Verdict in Civil Action for Assault and Battery—Other Cases in Municipal Court.

The case of the State vs. Charles Miller of Dodge for alleged election frauds was called again in municipal court this morning. Information was filed and the defendant entered a plea in abatement. The case was held open until three o'clock. It is not probable that it will be tried this week. The state dairy and food commission action against Joseph Fisher has also been held open. L. E. Gettle of Edgerton will probably be appointed to conduct the prosecution. In the $500 damage action of John Krueger, by guardian, vs. Levi Tonia, yesterday, the jury returned a verdict of $1 and costs for the defendant. The costs amounted to $11.

Father McElmurry acted as master of ceremonies and Dean Kelly preached the funeral sermon. The pallbearers were James J. Doe, Michael Hayes, Patrick J. Kavanaugh, Hugh Joyce, Philip Bohony and Patrick Joyce. The interment was in St. Oliver.

AN AMERICAN IN ENGLISH PARLIAMENT—WALDORF ASTOR WEARING LIFE GUARDS' UNIFORM.

London.—Waldorf Astor, son of William Waldorf Astor, American expatriate in England, has better than even chances of entering the British parliament. This opportunity has been denied his father, due to the fact that he is an American, but young Astor is very popular with the people in the district of Plymouth and has overcome the antagonism toward Americans by his entire sympathy with English life.

It is hard to realize that an American could give up the land of freedom and return to English life, although this is undoubtedly his privilege if he so wishes. But stranger still is the fact that young Astor and his father are strong Tories and have no sympathy whatever with the Liberal party.

Mr. Astor is basing his campaign upon the question of increased navy. In his district of Plymouth practically everybody wants a large navy, and his only opponent, the present incumbent, has come out flatfootedly against increasing the English naval fighting powers. Young Astor's slogan is an English navy equal to the combined navies of the world and is very popular at Plymouth.

arch never cared for Astor. Of late, however, he has mellowed toward Astor, and if the son takes a place in government councils committed to the policies of the king, his father is likely to get the consideration he has long desired.

WASHINGTON LIFE IS SOLD

PITTSBURG SYNDICATE GETS OLD
INSURANCE COMPANY.

Morton, Ryan and Whitney Bought Out by W. C. Baldwin and His Associates.

New York, Sept. 25.—The control of the Washington Life Insurance Company Thursday passed from the hands of Levi P. Morton, Thomas F. Ryan and Harry Payne Whitney, to a Pittsburgh syndicate headed by William C. Baldwin, president of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company.

The deal was completed late Thursday afternoon, and Mr. Baldwin was elected president of the Washington Life Insurance Company to succeed John T. Lock. Nearly all the old members of the board of directors resigned and their places were filled with men who are associated with Mr. Baldwin and interested with him in the purchase and control of the Washington Life.

Mr. Morton and his associates hold more than 9,000 of the 10,000 shares of the Washington Life. It is announced that should any of the stockholders desire to sell they will have the privilege of receiving the same price paid Mr. Morton, Mr. Ryan and Mr. Whitney. The price paid these men by the Pittsburgh purchasers is not disclosed. In retiring from the Washington Life former Gov. Morton severs a connection with the company which has continued for almost 50 years, he having been one of the charter members of the company, one of the oldest in the country.

FLIES IN A HIGH WIND.

Wilbur Wright Does More Good Work with His Aeroplane.

Le Mans, Sept. 25.—Wilbur Wright made a successful flight Thursday against the wind which was blowing at the rate of about 18 miles an hour. This was the strongest breeze the American aeroplanist had yet faced, but he remained up for a fraction more than 54 minutes, covering officially 39 kilometers (24 miles), which is about half a kilometer more than the distance he made for the Michelin prize on Monday. In reality Mr. Wright covered about 35 miles, the force of the wind obliging him to make wide turns.

UNABLE TO SEE THE FUTURE.

Short-Sighted English Statesman Denounced Penny Postage.

"Of all the wild and visionary schemes of which I have ever heard or read it is the most extraordinary." That was the official comment made by Lord Lichfield, postmaster general of England, on Rowland Hill's proposal to establish a uniform postal rate of a penny throughout the United Kingdom. And that was at a time within the memory of some men still living, only 71 years ago. Despite Lord Lichfield's condemnation of it, the scheme was within three years an established fact. And men who in their childhood might have seen and read the first letters ever sent from one part of England to another for a penny may this year see and read letters sent around the globe and practically to every part of the English-speaking world for the same small fee. The achievement will be not only a most impressive rebuke of the short-sighted and timorous administrator of two generations ago, but also an equally impressive demonstration of the constantly accelerating progress of civilization.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE SUMMER HOMES OF PROMINENT PEOPLE—FRANCIS WILSON AND HIS HOME—THE ORCHARD AT NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.

"Contented, well known," said Francis Wilson as he sat on the expansive porch of his home at New Rochelle. "This place suits me as does no other spot in the world."

Francis Wilson, the famous comedian, has made thousands of people enjoy life the more for having seen him in his various productions. His home is of the substantial style and typical of the many beautiful homes which surround it.

It is hard to realize when one sees a comedian of the type which Mr. Wilson represents that there is no more difficult or studied part of a production than this same comedy, which apparently comes so naturally and with ease. Mr. Wilson is a great student and one of his greatest delights is his large library, where he spends many an hour during the summer months. This, together with his den, is the pride of Mr. Wilson. The rooms in the house are large and airy and the light airy atmosphere which pervades the stage when Mr. Wilson appears, is also typical of his home. He feels that this, for he is delighted to have a chance to be free from the duties of the daily performance and is so in love with New Rochelle and its surroundings that he is content to spend his summers, as well as limited part of the winters in this home.

HIT IN $30,800 SWINDLE

FIVE ARE INDICTED IN THE PATTEN CASE.

True Bills Prepared—J. M. McFarland Is One of the Accused Men.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Two indictments naming five persons involved in the operations by which Mrs. James A. Patten was induced to pay out $30,800 for editions de luxe, were prepared Thursday in the office of the state's attorney. The indictments were based on true bills voted by the grand jury, were submitted again to the jurors and the investigating body returned them to court.

J. M. McFarland, who testified as a state's witness before the grand jury in the Patten case, was named in the indictments as a co-defendant. The other four persons against whom the indictments are named are said to have been McFarland's associates in his book deals.

Two separate transactions are taken cognizance of by the indictments. The first of these was the one of December 4, 1907, by which Mrs. Patten was induced to pay out $8,800. The second transaction is the one of April 30, 1908, by which she was induced to part with $22,000. In each of the indictments the charge was conspiracy to operate a confidence game.

McFarland appeared before the grand jury, and there told the story of his own part in the alleged scheme of rich people by means of the book scheme. At the same time he exposed the persons who, he says, worked the plot with him, and whom he accuses of having pocketed most of the profits. Mrs. Patten was also a witness. She told of the large sums of money that she turned over to the alleged ring of book swindlers with whom, at the introduction of McFarland, she did business. She told of the notes she signed and furnished documents in support of her testimony.

Since the discovery that McFarland has turned state's evidence and that his own testimony as a co-conspirator will be used to prosecute former associates, the men caught in the net are reported to have been making overtures of their readiness to return some of the notes and money which they secured.

MINNESOTA'S FIRE LOSSES.

Official Says They Are Between Five and Ten Millions.

Washington, Sept. 25.—A telegram was received Thursday from Raymond W. Pullman of the forest service, who is in Minnesota investigating forest fire conditions for the government. He estimates the loss in that state at $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, with the fire still burning. He reports a heavy rain, fall lasting five hours, but says 36 hours of rain are necessary to put out all fires.

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—The drought which began four weeks ago and has resulted in extensive forest fires throughout the state was broken Thursday night when rain began falling heavily. This will at least have the effect of deadening the fires, but two or three days of heavy rain will be required to completely extinguish them.

Standish, Mich., Sept. 25.—Two residences and a schoolhouse have been burned by forest fires at the village of Crump, and Mrs. J. Bartley is thought to have been burned to death. Volunteers from surrounding towns are assisting the people of Crump in fighting the fires.

REBEKAHS ARE DEFEATED.

Odd Fellows Won't Allow Them Separate Legislative Body.

Denver, Col., Sept. 25.—Hopes of the Order of Rebekah, the women's auxiliary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, for obtaining a separate national legislative body were shattered by the unfavorable action Thursday by the committee to which their petition was assigned by the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Odd Fellows. It is unlikely that the question will be further considered at this session of the sovereign grand lodge. The sovereign grand lodge designated the Missouri grand lodge to provide a commemorative tablet of the present session to be placed on Pike's Peak. The tablet will be installed next week with ceremonies in charge of Grand Representative O. H. P. Grunzier of Missouri.

Denies Being Slain.

Milwaukee, Sept. 25.—Relatives in this city of E. W. Drake of Kenmare, N. D., deny the report sent out from Minot, N. D., Wednesday to the effect that E. W. Drake and Clarence Bailey met a tragic death by being slowly roasted to death in a brick kiln. Mr. Drake was in telephone communication Thursday with Milwaukee friends and denied that he was in the kiln and said that Bailey was not seriously burned.

Brave Seaman Is Commended.

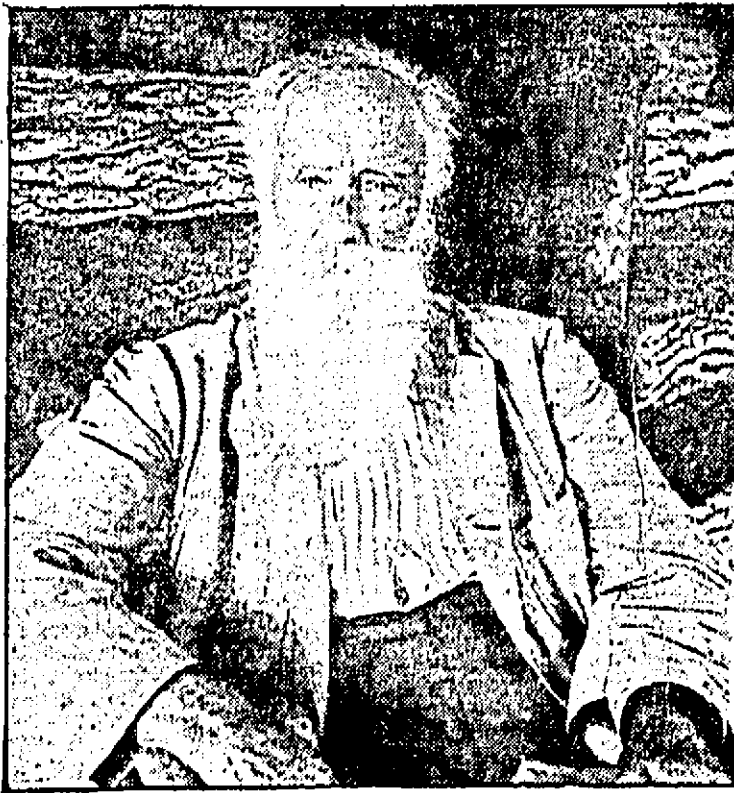

Washington, Sept. 25.—The secretary of the navy has personally commended H. Legrand, machinist's mate on the United States navy tug Nina, for his "prompt action and gallant conduct" in going to the rescue of M. L. Shano, seaman, who was in danger of burning to death. Legrand was severely burned.

Denver Coliseum Burns.

Denver, Col., Sept. 25.—The Coliseum, on Champa street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, this city, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin Thursday.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE SUMMER HOMES OF PROMINENT PEOPLE.
JOHN BURROUGHS AS HE APPEARS TODAY.

No disciple of the simple life is better known than John Burroughs and his world famous summer home, Shabshades. A brisk walk of three miles through winding paths into the heart of the mountains from the dilapidated station at West Park brings us to what at first seems a mere hunter's shanty. In the midst of the woods, surrounded on every side by nature in its primeval state, resides one of the best-known authors of today, John Burroughs. His cabin, which he has termed Shabshades, because it is entirely built of shabs, was built entirely by Mr. Burroughs himself. It consists of one living room with a fireplace at the end, a small kitchen, adobe and an alcove at the side.

completes the house. It was in this alcove that President Roosevelt slept and it was here that the president's son spent a happy week with the eccentric author. Mr. Burroughs likes this life and spends most of the summer months here. A short distance from West Park, overlooking the Hudson, is his magnificent residence, where his wife and family reside and where he spends his winters. Contrary to the general belief Mr. Burroughs is not surrounded at Shabshades by any extensive library or even his own works. These are all kept at his residence on the Hudson. Mr. Burroughs is very pleasant and cordial to visitors and accepts the necessity of being photographed with the best possible grace.

Shabshades did not cost Mr. Burroughs to exceed $150, besides his work, but it is the one place he enjoys himself most. He prepares his own meals in the small kitchen and, in fact, is the only occupant of his summer home, with the exception of an occasional visitor.

Rehberg's Stock Presents Attractive Features For Immediate Selections

THE person who knows now what the needs for fall and winter clothing and shoes are cannot do better than to make selections at once, even though you may prefer to have the article laid aside for later call; this will be done for you. The stocks are now at their height of attractiveness—sizes, patterns and qualities complete, presenting an unbroken front for selection. Prices are low for quality, in fact we say to you as we have always said, that any suit can be purchased here at a few dollars less than like quality would cost you elsewhere.

$12 WHAT $12.00 WILL BUY $12

You can get from this assortment of good clothing a suit at $12 which embodies all the salient points of the better grades and which will give you more real wear and enjoyment than you are in the habit of securing from this clothing investment. Same pretty patterns as are found in high priced clothes. Browns, olives, blacks, grays and blues, sizes 36 to 42. Other grades in stylish effects, at $14, $15, $18 and $20.

Unequaled Clothing—Hirsch-Wickwire

There is little need for argument on the goodness of these clothes to the former owner of a Hirsch-Wickwire suit—he knows. When you can secure a suit that represents an equal value to the made-to-measure clothes at double the price, strictly hand tailored every stitch; when you can secure such clothes and get three years' hard wear out of them, aren't they worth $20 to $30 a suit? Every pretty new cloth pattern is shown and all the handsome styles are here. Conservative lines for those who want quiet dress. Prices $20 to $30.

Well Dressed Young Men Wear Sophomore or Viking Clothes

Any young man who has inspected or worn a sophomore suit will pick it out again this fall. Every snappy idea is found, the colorings are superb, not a point you can think of not present. They are made for the fellows who want absolutely the best. Prices... $20, $22.50, $25. Here is the very essence of luxury in dress at an easy price. The coats of these suits are made up with swell fronts, long deep lapels, sleeve cuffs, extra peg top pants, and in the beautiful shades of brown, gray and olive stripes as well as the ever popular solid blue. Every suit absolutely guaranteed. Sizes 31 to 38, only $15.00 and $16.50. BOYS' VIKING SUITS.—The most popular boy's suit and the best in every way for $5.00 is the Viking. Two pair pants and all the style the season demands. Vikings wear like iron. $5. Longley hand finished Hats, the best all around $3.00 hat made. Elk Brand Hats are popular, $2.50.

Shoe Styles Were Never Better Displayed Than Here Now

Foot thought and this department become linked quite naturally. The desire for the proper idea and the quality kind is fully met here this fall.

A new popular shoe in ox blood color, is finding ready favor, ladies' $4, men's $3.50.

Queen Quality for women still lead and the new De Luxe high cut with two buckle top, lace or button, tan shade, is making many customers. Price $5.00.

The new ooze kid upper in a patent leather shoe is pretty. Two shades, blue and brown, also the gray cloth top shoe, tan vamp, will catch your eye. Price $4.00.

Mighty pretty shoes in new leathers and shapes, at $3.50 and $4.00.

Bostonian and Kneeland shoes for men will lead all good shoes for time to come. New ideas in oxfords, high cut tans, and regular black and patent leathers are shown here in great variety. $3.50 and $4.00. SCHOOL SHOES—Misses', Boys' and children's shoes for strong wear, comfort and good looks. Made from velour, and box calf and vici kid shoes that are guaranteed to give long service, at $1.00 to $2.00.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO SUMMER HOMES OF PROMINENT MEN—PHILANDER CHASE KNOX AND HIS SUMMER HOME AT VALLEY Forge.

On the outskirts of Philadelphia, nestling in the historic region of Valley Forge is the magnificent summer home of Philander Chase Knox. It is large, roomy and together with the estate of several acres makes one of the most ideal spots in which to enjoy the summer months. No one enjoys this more than Mr. Knox when he is able to be free from duties long enough to be there. The present summer Mr. Knox is spending abroad.

When the Knox's are at home they are great entertainers and very popular socially. Many intimate friends in Philadelphia frequently journey out for a delightful call or to spend a pleasant evening. The pride of Mr. Knox's heart is his library, which adjoins an expansive porch. Here the great lawyer, who has made a name which will go down in history as one of the strong attorney generals of the United States, spend much of his leisure time. It is estimated that Mr. Knox's home cost in the neighborhood of $40,000.

LOSS AND GAIN OF STORMS
Just at this season when equinox storms are being reported from the tropics, those disturbances have a very positive significance either potential or actual. The probability of their occurrence introduces a sensible element of caution in speculative and harvesting conditions. Those who take chances against them incur extra risks not peculiar to other seasons. From the agricultural, as well as from the commercial and industrial standpoint, these tropical storms affect many millions of values on one side or another in the form of risks.
The cotton belt is most directly concerned in their occurrence both because of their customary violence in damaging property and in interrupting traffic, but mostly in their effect upon the cotton fiber itself. Within the past three seasons, in one case the cotton growing on the central gulf coast and in the Mississippi valley was so badly stained as to greatly reduce its spinning value. If damages from this source be estimated at a quarter of a million bales it would have meant a deduction of at least $10,000,000 from the gross receipts of that crop.
But such is the law of prices that, with a decrease in supply of so essential a material of manufacture as cotton, there is more than a corresponding increase in price. If, for instance, a five per cent loss from storm occurred the price of the remaining crop would be advanced more than that proportion, and so compensatory by higher market values. Nevertheless the injury would be keenly felt because of its uneven distribution. An individual grower who lost half of his crop could not expect to get double the price for the remaining portion, even though the income as a whole for the cotton states were enhanced out of proportion to the loss. Such storm must, therefore, be looked upon as a cause of waste and weakness, because its losses cannot be equitably distributed to the grower and because it entails sacrifice upon the consumer.
On the opposite side of the globe in the monsoon regions of India the storms play an entirely different role. They are as necessary there as the ordinary rainfall here. If the monsoons do not bring their seasonal quota of rain, famine is sure to manifest itself. Thus far this season the August and September rainfall has been normal. To the agricultural classes of India these storms mean the difference between comfort and starvation. Their absence means not only smaller but fewer crops as well as failure to lay up reserves between harvests. The exceptionally favorable season of 1908 speaks well for the self-supporting capacity of India and promises a good commercial year.
Timely monsoons mean millions of money for commerce in which cloth mills of Manchester share as vitally as the American manufacturers of agricultural implements, or the cotton mills of Koho which get much of their raw material from India. In fact the world is very closely dependent upon these periodical outpourings. In moderation they are the life of the land, in excess they become a menace. In nature as in society the path of moderation is the line of largest blessings.

THE POLITICAL HANGMAN.
During the later life of Benedict Arnold in England, he took offense at some expression of a distinguished British officer, and, exercising the privilege of his own commission in the British army, called that officer out. In the duel which ensued, Arnold fired on the signal, but Lord Vanehildre did not. "Fire, curse you, fire!" cried Arnold; "why don't you fire?" The Britishman tossed his pistol on the ground, and retorted over his shoulder as he walked away, "I leave you to the hangman, sir!"
President Roosevelt is under no obligation to accept Mr. Bryan's challenge with regard to Charles N. Haas. He may most properly leave that gentleman to Haas, who appears to be the political hangman in this campaign, says the Wall Street Journal.

There is but little necessity of calling attention to the fact that aside from electing a president, governor and members of the legislature the Rock county republicans have a good county ticket to elect; they know that already.
No one questions the right of the railroads to run their engines up and down their tracks, but when a public man is speaking and thousands of people are waiting for his words it is not courteous to do it—not only to the speaker but to the citizens.
Governor Davidson has become a power in state politics and the quiet man who has been in the Governor's chair for three years has demonstrated that he can think as well as open his mail. Here's to Davidson.

William H. Taft can leave Wisconsin with the distinct understanding that the majority which he will receive in November will be, if anything, larger than that given either McKinley or Roosevelt.
Senator La Follette introduced Judge Taft to the Madison audience Thursday and assured him of the hearty support of the republicans of Wisconsin.
How about that Janesville Homecoming or a Fourth of July celebration or something for November? Time to do things is before it is too late.

The season of county fairs is about over and then comes the grand reeling. Why not start early now and have a fair in Janesville next year?
Now comes word of storms in the Philippines and cholera in Manila. Our eastern possessions drift into print frequently of late.
There is nothing but baseball in the minds of the New York citizens who enjoy a rowdy game as well as did the old Romans a bear fight.
Rock county candidates for the state senate and legislature were most pronounced in their votes on the state platform.
William Jennings Bryan reaches Janesville tomorrow noon and follows Taft on his tour of Wisconsin.
There is a severe drought in the New York stock market as well as in the country at large.
Baseball just at present holds the stage with football waiting in the wings for its number to swing up.
Wall street wonders what has hit them. The lambs appear to be afraid of the bears and bulls.
Castro still is considering that ultimatum of Holland's and smiling over it.

What city?
But such is the law of prices that, with a decrease in supply of so essential a material of manufacture as cotton, there is more than a corresponding increase in price. If, for instance, a five per cent loss from storm occurred the price of the remaining crop would be advanced more than that proportion, and so compensatory by higher market values. Nevertheless the injury would be keenly felt because of its uneven distribution. An individual grower who lost half of his crop could not expect to get double the price for the remaining portion, even though the income as a whole for the cotton states were enhanced out of proportion to the loss. Such storm must, therefore, be looked upon as a cause of waste and weakness, because its losses cannot be equitably distributed to the grower and because it entails sacrifice upon the consumer.

Heart to Heart Talks.

HER BOY AND YOUR BOY.

Your boy? Your boy wears the badge of property, good clothes. He has never known real hunger. When he needs money he comes to you and gets it. He has not missed a term of school since he began in the kindergarten. He plays on Saturdays. On Sundays he goes to Sunday school in an extra suit.

Her boy? Her boy has little to show in the way of clothes, and he wears cheap ktp shoes. Sometimes when he turns his wages over to his mother she gives him a nickel, but not often. He has to quit school in the second grade. He earns about as much delivering newspapers as your boy spends.

While your boy turns over in bed for his morning nap her boy is at work. He is due at the newspaper office at 4 o'clock. If the morning is frosty, instead of an overcoat he runs to get warm. If it rains, he gets wet. And where your boy would be in bed with a cold her boy just coughs a little and keeps going.

Your boy? Why, he has contact with good teachers, and he has his own little library of books. He goes to the Y. M. C. A. gym. He has all the refinements of a comfortable home.

Her boy? Her boy runs up against all sorts—good, morally unfit, vicious. He knows little of the finer things of life. He knows things in the rough only. Work is his physical exercise, play a luxury.

Nevertheless—It may be her boy will outrun yours. Who knows? The very worldliness about him may put a mental keeness in the brain of her boy. His hard experience may cause him to see things as they are. Something may cause the seeds of ambition to sprout.

It all depends on the yeast in him. If the yeast stuff is good, let your boy look out for the washerwoman's boy.

On the other hand—It is a pity to think it—her boy may go down instead of up. There may be no real yeast in his makeup. If not, the sordid life that is about him is likely to overwhelm him. The handicap is too much. The odds your boy has over her boy are too great, more's the pity.

But—If her boy has real soul stuff, he may go stumbling, yet stumbling, shall find the safe way to tomorrow. In that case your boy will step aside for him.

Don't be late, don't say "wait!"
"Nothing left," may be your fate.

BANKS' TREASURES IN HOTEL.

When Moneyed Men of Maine Feared for Their Gold.

For two years, from 1812 to 1814, the treasure of all the banks of the Forest City lay in the parlor of the Marrett house in Standish village, and as evidence of the fact today upon the parlor door can be seen the huge lock which was placed there nearly a century ago to add safeguard to the treasure.

During the war of 1812 the bankers of Portland thought their treasure was in danger of being looted by the British forces, and in casting about for a safe place their choice fell upon the town of Standish and the Marrett house as a depository for the treasure. Loaded upon a six-ox cart and guarded closely, the money, thousands of dollars of it, was transported 16 miles and deposited in the place of safety, where it remained for two years with a guard of but one man to watch it.

The door of the parlor in which the money was placed was reinforced by a heavy lock having a brass handle, and extra supports were placed under the floor of the room to sustain the enormous weight of wealth. The house is still owned by descendants of Rev. Mr. Marrett and is one of the oldest of the town.—Lawton Journal.

Do Your Feet Ever Hurt?

If you could look inside of your shoe with your foot in it, you would see why. The sole of your foot bends, the sole of your shoe bends scarcely at all.

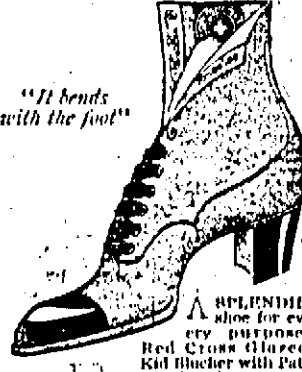

Ninety-five out of every 100 cases of foot suffering can be traced directly to stiff soles. Their constant friction is what brings hard, callous places, what irritates the delicate nerves and tendons and makes your feet draw, burn, ache!

The Tenderest Feet Are Comfortable in the Red Cross Shoe

Its sole is flexible. Though of regular thickness, it bends with the foot. Not a movement is hampered; not a muscle restricted. The moment you slip it on, you notice its wonderful ease and suppleness. Come in. Bend it. Walk in it.

It doesn't cramp, bind or "draw" the foot—it fits like a glove. Try it once and nothing could induce you to go back to stiff sole shoes!

We have it in all styles. Let us fit you. High Shoes, $4.00 and $5.00. Oxfords, $3.50 and $4.00.

Would you have a badly decayed or broken tooth crowned if you know it would renew its use and last as long as a sound tooth?

If so, place your teeth in my care and you may realize each and every one of the above desires. Glad to have a TALK with you any time.

BRYAN TO SPEAK HERE SATURDAY

IS TO GIVE JANESVILLE TWENTY MINUTES TOMORROW NOON.

PLAN TO STOP AT DEPOT

Arrangements Planned Include Holding Train Here Twenty Minutes for the Speech.

William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, democratic candidate for president, will be in Janesville tomorrow for twenty minutes and make an address from the rear of the special car he is making a whirlwind follow-up tour, campaign with.

J. J. Cunningham, democratic state central committee man from the first congressional district, was notified to effect this morning and immediately began preparations which included arrangements to have the train stop at the Academy street crossing, so that all could have an opportunity to see and hear the silver-tongued speaker.

Mr. Bryan and his party will arrive in Janesville on train 501, due here at 11:45, his car being attached to the rear of the train. He is en route to Madison, where he addresses the Farmers' congress tomorrow afternoon and then hurries to Milwaukee for the big gathering in the evening. An state central committee man Mr. Cunningham has named the following list of democrats as the reception committee and they will take the 9:10 North-Western train to Harvard to join the Bryan party and escort them to Madison. Democratic nominees for congress H. A. Moehlebach of Clinton; J. J. Richardson, Beloit, candidate for state senate; A. B. Fossenden of Edgerton; J. F. Hutchinson of Janesville and M. F. Lathers of Beloit, candidates for the assembly from the three Rock county districts; and the following: G. G. Sutherland, William Smith, P. J. Stuart, C. J. Hammond, L. E. Conner, F. C. Burpee, J. J. Sheridan, E. H. Connell, Paul Rudolph, of Janesville; J. B. Clark and J. E. Burr, Beloit; Andrew Johnson, Edgerton; and F. R. Morse of Milton Junction.

Arrangements are also being made for the different factories in the city to close down and have the Imperial band at the depot to greet the democratic leader.

PRISON BARS AGAIN FOR ERNEST BLUMH

Spring Brook Man Convicted by Jury Was Committed to Waupun for Eighteen Months.

Ernest Blumh, widely known by the name of "Monroe," was this morning committed by Judge Pfaff to the state's prison at Waupun for eighteen months. When before sentence was pronounced, he was asked whether or not he had anything to say, the prisoner arose and made this declaration: "I have been convicted of something I didn't do."

In answer to this, the court said: "The jury found you guilty on what I am inclined to view as full and sufficient evidence. I don't think you were sufficiently intoxicated not to know what you were doing. Your excuse for your subsequent conduct, that you didn't know you were following the young ladies, appears to me to be rather flimsy. I think it was shown by your own statements that you were doing something improper and unlawful. You said that if you hadn't been asleep the officers would never have gotten you, thereby demonstrating the fact that you were aware at the time that there was some reason why they should want you. Ordinarily, without previous conviction, the punishment for this offense would not be so severe. But our legislature has seen fit to pass a statute making it possible to increase the measure of punishment where the man who has served a term in prison offends a second time. The jury was fully aware of the fact that if they found you guilty you would in all probability be sent to prison. I am sorry for your family but it seems to me that in the past you have shown them no consideration."

The passing of sentence on Blumh was preceded by arguments on Attorney B. H. Ryan's motion for a new trial. Attorney Ryan alleged error in seven different particulars. He maintained that whereas the words of the statute may be sufficient in charging a crime where the statute defines such a crime, a common law offense has to be charged with such particularity as to leave no doubt whatever as to its character. He also claimed that the offense of which his client previously served a term in prison was given undue emphasis and had an undue influence with the jury. The court, in denying the motion, said that in his opinion the prisoner had had no fair trial as anybody could have and that no testimony which might throw light on his possible innocence of any intent to do wrong had been rejected.

Yeomen's Homes.
The housing problem in Elizabeth's day may have left the laborer in very primitive dwellings, but it gave noble mansions to the great and to farmers and country craftsmen pleasant homes of such durability and such charm that many of them stand today to shame us into a less contemptible mode of building than that which the nineteenth century produced.—Country Life.

Respectability.
Respectability is a very good thing in its way, but it does not rise superior to all considerations; I would not for a moment venture to hint that it was a matter of taste; but I think I will go as far as this: that if a position is admittedly unkind, uncomfortable, unnecessary and superfluous unless, although it were as respectable as the Church of England, the sooner a man is out of it the better for himself and all concerned.

Know Friend Thoroughly.
If a man is worth knowing at all he is worth knowing well.—Alexander Smith.

HAS BEEN MISSING SINCE LABOR DAY

George Richards Is Alarmed Over the Mysterious Disappearance of His Hired Man, Chas. Walters.

George Richards, whose farm is located near the Rock County Sugar Co.'s plant, visited the police station last evening and acquainted Chief Appleby with the fact that his hired man, Charles Walters, disappeared in a mysterious fashion on Labor Day and had not been heard from since. Walters started for town in the forenoon with the intention of spending the holiday in the city. He had a good-sized sum of money on his person and also had wages due him which had not been paid. If, for any reason, he decided to seek employment elsewhere, Mr. Richards cannot understand why he has not sent for the money and a suit-case containing clothes and other valuables which still remain at the house. Walters is a single man 27 years of age and blind in one eye. Walters had seen a man dressed in a suit of black clothes. The circumstances of his disappearance, pointing as they do to some terrible happening and perhaps foul play, have filled Mr. Richards' mind with grave apprehensions. The police will conduct a thorough inquiry in the city and neighboring country.

ST. PAUL OFFICIALS ON INSPECTION TOUR

Business Car No. 555 Passed Through Here Last Night and This Morning.

Business car No. 555 passed through here with a party of St. Paul officials on board making an inspection tour. E. L. Lums, chief engineer of the city of St. Paul, was accompanied by E. H. Myers of the Mineral Point and Prairie du Chien divisions, and Road Master A. M. Jackson was in the party from here west and back. Between Milwaukee and Madison, Road Master Murphy was in the party. The car arrived here last evening, went out to Mineral Point last night, and returned this morning. From here to Chicago, Road Master Johnson and Superintendent L. H. Clauson were in the party also.

LITTLE TOTS ENJOY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Isabel and Lloyd Morris Celebrated Fifth Anniversary This Morning.

Isabel and Lloyd Morris, the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Morris, celebrated their fifth birthday this morning at the home of their parents at 161 Madison street. Forty children who attend the kindergarten grade of the Washington school, were the guests of the occasion and enjoyed themselves with games on the lawn of the Morris home. Light refreshments were served and the host and hostess each had a large cake with the requisite number of candles thereon. A number of the babies in the neighborhood were invited in and Miss Grace Spoon and Miss Catherine Pfaff, the kindergarten teachers at the Washington school, were also present.

SILVER GRAYS MET WESTWARD HO TEAM

Return Match with Fifty-year-old Team from Chicago Club Played Today.

This afternoon the Silver Gray team composed of members of the Shubert Golf club, who are over fifty years of age, played their return match with a like team from the Westward Ho club of Chicago over the Westward Ho course.

Those who went down from here were A. M. Valentine, J. P. Baker, F. C. Grant, Wilson Lane, H. G. Carter, H. S. McGiffin, Orion Sutherland and C. C. MacLean. J. G. Rexford and P. E. Pfaff, who are also members of the team, have been in Chicago for the past day or so and played this afternoon. F. W. Morgan of Beloit was also a member of the team.

In the first match played here the local golfers were decided victors, only one man of the visiting team defeating his opponent and that only by a very lucky stroke.

The Westward Ho course is very flat and level and in that way different from the local course. In case the Westward Ho team is victorious today, the third and deciding match will be played tomorrow over the Calumet club course.

CORSETS
"They Lace In Front"

YOU have heard of these famous corsets which have created a furor in France and America—the new idea in corset-building.

Next week you will have the pleasure of seeing them, of trying them on, of learning, first-hand, from an expert corsetiere, all about them. She will explain the

"New Art of Figure-Building"

Every woman in this vicinity, who sets value upon a perfect figure, should see these splendid models of the Gossard Corset, which alone induces the slender, sinuous, girlish back so greatly desired by the woman of fashion.

Gossard Corsets are conducive to health, as well as grace and beauty, because they give just the support which every woman needs and appreciates, and make life worth the living.

We ask you cordially to attend this exploitation sale which will begin Monday in our corset section. We want you to meet Mrs. Brown, the corsetiere sent here by the manufacturer, to personally introduce, explain and fit Gossard Corsets. We want you to see for yourself how infinitely superior is the Gossard to every other corset you ever saw. Be sure to come.

$400 From a 25c Want Ad.

Impossible as it may seem we got the following unsolicited report from the user of a Want Ad:

"I inserted a 25c want ad, offering for sale hay and wood at my farm, and by 10 a. m. the next day after the ad appeared I had made $400.00."

Any man, woman or child can make money from the consistent use of Want Ads, if they have for sale any article for which there is a demand. The reason is plain. A Want Ad goes into 4500 homes, practically every home in Janesville, and to hundreds of homes in the country. If there is a demand for the article offered for sale, and the price is right, rest assured that it will be bought quickly. A great many want ads fail in their mission, because they do not give a full description of the article for sale, and how are the people to know the article if it is not described thoroughly.

Yes; there's one thing you must do if the want ads. are to be of use and profit to you---YOU MUST READ THEM!

What He Needed.

The Leavenworth Times says that a young society man went into a Leavenworth clothing store recently and asked to look at legkings. "I want something to cover the whole calf," he remarked. "Hitch" you better buy a whole suit of clothes," said the merchant, suggestively.

ion of the House of God to the Home";
by C. H. Howard on "The Conviction Which Led to the Building of This House of God"; by Rev. L.
A. McIntyre on "Consecration Necessary to Sustain the House of God." The dedicatory prayer will be delivered by Rev. John Reynolds, superintendent of the Janesville district of the M. C. church.

BLAZE LAST NIGHT
DESTROYED BARN

Building on Farm Owned by Mrs. David Cross Burned to Ground
Last Night.

Through a fire which started about one-thirty this morning the barn on the farm owned by Mrs. David Cross in the town of Janesville, was totally destroyed. There was no insurance as far as can be learned.

The blaze started about 1:30 in the hay mow of the barn presumably either from spontaneous combustion or from tramps sleeping there.

It was not discovered by the Knudsen family, who are tenants of the farm until it had obtained a good start and when it was too late to save anything.

Twenty acres of hay which were in the building were destroyed, four horses and their harnesses as well as some farm machinery. Practically nothing was saved as the barn was entirely ablaze before it was discovered.

The farm is situated about six miles north of the city in the town of Janesville.

EVANSVILLE

was won by Mrs. Robert Lee Grant of Chicago, who is visiting with Mrs. A.
P. Burdman. The final afternoon session for the season, which is to be held next Thursday, will be a "rummage whist party." Each player will be expected to donate some article of "household junk" which can easily be spared and the one who makes the highest score will have first choice of the array. The possessor of the next best score will have the second choice and so on, until everyone has been provided with a prize.

CANDIDATE MADE A SPEECH AT AFTON

Train Slightly Ahead of Time and Many Missed Opportunity of Hearing Him.

Afton, Sept. 21.—Afton has been placed on the map for sure, that is from a republican point of view, for it had the distinguished honor of a short speech from Judge Taft. Last Thursday morning, a good sized crowd was at the depot when the special col-led in from Beloit, among the number being the pupils from the state graduate school, bearing small American flags, which were enthusiastically waved in greeting and in a twinkling to the next president. The train came into Afton fully ten minutes ahead of the expected time of arrival, consequently some who had planned to see and hear Judge Taft were too late and missed the opportunity. He spoke for about three minutes and was then whisked away toward Janesville, smiling in his genial way as the crowd shouted "Hurrah for Taft."

How much do you weigh? If you do not know, just plan to attend the exchange social, to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miller, Wednesday evening, Sept. 30th, and find out. This affair, which was originally planned for Tuesday evening, will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society and was arranged for at the initial fall meeting of that organization, held last Wednesday afternoon with Miss Ella C. Doherty, lec-tress and cake will be served and your weight will be ascertained for the small sum of five cents, prizes being offered for the persons who weigh the heaviest and the least in the various classes. All are invited.

Albert W. Stark has returned from Monomonee, Wis., whither he was called last week by a telegram announce-ing the death of his brother William,
who was formerly a resident of Afton, and whose death was caused by cancer of the stomach.

Dick Brinkman has returned to Platteville, where he goes to assist his brother, William Brinkman, and family in their preparations for removal from Platteville to Winnetka, Ill., which will be their future home. Mr.
Brinkman having planned to go into business in that north shore suburb.

Mr. and Mrs. August Engelke have returned from a pleasant visit with Milwaukee relatives.

WERE MARRIED IN MONROE THURSDAY

Mary A. Winter of Chicago and G. R.
Holmes of Orangeville
United at Monroe.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Monroe, Wis., Sept. 25.—G. R.
Holmes, cashier of the R. P. Musser
Co. of Orangeville, Ill., and Miss Mary
A. Winter of Chicago, were married in this city by the Rev. William H.
Hartman. Mr. Holmes is the son of Samuel Holmes of this city.

Ernest Hecode of Brookfield and Miss Fanny Hennerly of New Glarus were married in this city by the Rev. P. A.
Schind.

The Rev. and Mrs. William Strelecsath of Milwaukee are visiting in this city. Mr. Strelecassath was the first pastor of New Glarus when that village was settled by a colony of Swiss who came directly from Canton Glarus, Switzerland. He served as pastor of the Evangelical church of that place between 1850 and 1855. He and his wife recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in Milwaukee and are now on their golden wedding trip.
They will visit at New Glarus and Arlington, Minn., where he formerly held a pastorate.

A tin snapper was given Miss Lillian Karlen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Karlen, Jr., by ten of her girl friends. She is soon to be wedded to Ray A. Young of this city.

Another teacher is soon to be employed in the high school, owing to the great number of students in many of the classes.

P. G. Sickinger has gone to Waukesha, where his paper, Platte L., is entered in the race today.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Roth are home from an eastern trip. They visited at Winthrop, W. Va., and several cities in Ohio.

COREY WINNING THE MARATHON RACE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Ill.—Albert L. Corey, an athlete without club affiliations, and wearing the colors of France upon his hat, won the American Marathon race at Chicago this week, the fourth annual Greek revival of the Illinois Athletic club.

In view of the winning of the Marathon at the Olympic games by an American interest in the Chicago Marathon run this year was doubly intense. The Chicago Marathon run covered a distance of 26 miles and

Corey covered the distance in 2:57:
30. Pacing closely behind him and finishing but a minute later in the grueling run was Sidney Hatch of the Illinois Athletic club. Dennis Bennett of Hamilton, Ont., holds the American Marathon record of 2:41:33. Corey came within 16 minutes of the record.
Seventy-nine runners started in the race and 56 of them finished. The last man in took nearly twice the time to run the distance as did the winner. Corey's victory is particularly significant when it is remembered that Sidney Hatch, the second man in, was one of the team to represent America in the Marathon run of the great Olympic games in London.

Corey ran a splendid consistent race. Only three times did he stop.
Once a shoe string came untied. Twice he stopped to snatch a swallow of wine from a champagne bottle which his trainer on bicycle carried at his side.

Corey has been running Marathon races all his life, both in Europe and America, but this is his first winning.
It is said he has run in all 26,000

White Soap—Blue Wrapper

The best naphtha soap is P. & G. Naphtha Soap.
Remember the name.

But if you should happen to forget it, remember this description: The white naphtha soap in the blue wrapper.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is used by women who are anxious that everything about them shall be as clean as soap and water can make it; but who don't propose to stick to old-fashioned methods when new ones are better.

P. & G. Naphtha is a new kind of soap.

The method of using it is new.

The results are new.

Boiling of clothes is entirely done away with. The hard work over the washboard is reduced to a minimum. And because it is no longer necessary to keep a fire going all day long in order to heat the water, the room in which you wash is as cool as you care to have it.

Think of that—working, on washday, in a cool room.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is sold by good grocers everywhere.

The Price is 5 Cents a Cake.

CHAPTER XII.

On Reconciliation.

Gently but with decision Sergt. Hickey set his face against the allurements of his winecup and the importunities of his fellow-officers.

He was tired, he affirmed with a weary nod; the lateness of the hour rendered him quite indisposed for convivial dalliance. Even the sight of O'Hagan, seduction incarnate, in the vestibule, a bottle under either arm, clutching a box of cigars jealously with both hands, failed to move the temperate soul.

"Nah," he waved temptation aside with a gesture of finality. "I don't guess I'll take much to-night, thanks, O'Hagan."

And, wheeling, shaped a course for Broadway.

The early morning air breathed chill but grateful to his fevered brow. Oddly enough, in view of the fact that he had indulged in no very violent exercise, he found himself perspiring profusely. Now and again he saw fit to pause, removing his hat and utilizing a large soiled bandana with grim abandon.

At such times his face would be upturned, eyes trained upon the dim infinities beyond the pale moon-splitten sky. And he would sigh profoundly—not the furnace sigh of a lover thinking of his mistress, but the heartfelt and moving sigh of the man of years and cares who has drunk deep of that cup of bitterness called Unappreciated Genius.

Then, tucking the clammy bandana into a hip pocket, and withdrawing his yawning gaze from the heavens, would struggle on, with a funeral countenance as the outward and visible manifestation of a mind burdened with mundane concerns; such as (one might shrewdly surmise) that autographed portrait of a deputy commissioner of police which the detective's lynx-like eyes had discovered on Mattland's easel, or, toward the close of the conference, or, possibly, the mighty processes of departmental law, with its attendant annoyances of charges preferred, hearings before an obviously prejudiced yet high-principled magistrate, reprimands and rulings, reductions in rank, "breaking," transfers; or—yet a third possibility—with the prevailing rate of wage as contrasted between detective and "adewalkpounder," and the cost of living as contrasted between Manhattan, on the one hand, and Jamaica, Bronxville, or St. George, Staten Island, on the other.

A dimly-lighted side-entrance presently loomed invitingly in the sergeant's path. He glanced up, something surprised to find himself on Sixth avenue; then, bowed with the fatigue of a busy day, turned aside, entering a dingy back room separated from the bar proper (at that illicit hour) by a curtain of green baize. A number of tables whose sloppy imitation rosewood tops shone dimly in the murky gaslight, were set about, here and there, for the accommodation of a herd of sleepy-eyed, case-hardened habitués.

Into a vacant chair beside one of these the detective dropped, and familiarly requested the huttern-jawed waiter, who presently bustled to his side, to "Back meh up a tub of suds, George."

"Nah," in response to a concerned query, "I ain't feelin' up to much to-night."

That tilted over his eyes, one elbow on the chairback, another on the table, slabby jaws quivering as he mumbled the indispensable cigar, puffy hands clasped across his ample chest, he sat for many minutes by the side of his unheeded drink, pondering, turning over and over in his mind the one idea it was capable of harboring at a time.

"He c'd've wrote that letter to himself. . . . He's wise enough. . . . Yeh can't fool Hickey all the time."

"Back Meh Up a Tub of Suds."

Time. . . . I'll get him yet. Got- t'n make good 'r it's the sidewalk's 'r mine. . . . No, try'n hard to make an 'onest livin'. . . . 'Nd him with all kinds of monoy!"

"The fat" mottled fingers sought a waistcoat pocket and, fumbling therein, touched curiously a little pellet of soft paper. Its possessor did not require to examine it to reassure himself as to its legitimacy as a work of art, nor as to the prominence of the Roman C in its embellishment of engraved arabesques.

"A century," he reflected sullenly; "one lonely little century for mine. 'Nd he had a wad like a ham . . . on him. . . . 'Nd I might've had it all for my very own if . . ." His brow clouded blackly.

"Slouth!" Hickey ground the epithet vindictively between his teeth. And spat. "Slouth! Ah hell!"

Recalled to himself by the very vehemence of his emotion, he turned hastily, drained to its dregs the tall glass of lukewarm and vivid beer which had stood at his elbow, placed a nickel on the table, and, rising, waddled hastily out into the night.

It was being borne in upon him with much force that if he wished to save his name and fame something had got to be done about it.

"I hadn't oughtn't left him so long. I guess," he told himself; "but . . . I'll get him all right."

And turning, lumbered gloomily eastward, rapt with vain imaginings, squat, swollen figure blending into the deep, meager shadows of the Tenderloin; and so on toward Mattland's rooms—murous, misunderstood, malignant, coddling his fictitious wrongs; somehow pathetically typical of the force he represented.

On the corner of Fifth avenue he paused, startled fairly out of his dour mood by the loud echo of a name already become too hatefully familiar to his ears, and by the sight of what, at first glance, he took to be the beginning of a street brawl.

CHAPTER XIII.

Flight.

In the alcove the girl waited, torn in the throes of ineffectual hysteria; at first too weak from reaction and revulsion of feeling to do anything other than lean heavily against the wall and fight with all her strength and will against this crawling, shuddering, creeping horror of nerves, that threatened alike her self-control, her comeliness, and her reason.

But insensibly the tremor wore itself away, leaving her weary and worn but mistress of her thoughts and actions. And she dropped with gratitude into a chair, bending an ear attentive to the war of words being waged in the room beyond the portieres.

At first, however, she failed to grasp the import of the altercation. And when in time she understood its trend, it was with incredulity, resentment, and a dawning dread lest a worse thing might yet befall her, worse by far than what had gone before. That to be deprived of his protection, to feel herself forcibly restrained from the shelter of his generous care—! A moment gone she had been so sure that all would now be well with her, once Mattland succeeded in riding himself of the police. He would shut the door and—then she would come forth and tell him, tell him everything, and, withholding naught that damned her in her own esteem, throw herself upon his mercy, bruised with penitence but serene in the assurance that he would prove kind.

She had such faith in his tender and gentle kindness now. . . . She had divined so clearly the motive that had permitted Andy's escape in order that she might be saved, not alone from Andy, not alone from the shame of imprisonment, but from herself as well—from herself as Mattland knew her. The burglar out of the way, by ruse, evasion, or subterfuge she would be secreted from the prying of the police, smuggled out of the house and taken to a place of safety, given a new chance to redeem herself, to clean her hands of the mire of theft, to become worthy of the womanhood that was hers.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear, without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally, as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and overindulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home according to our new and complete set of directions, the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balsamwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardoli and one ounce tincture cadomene; mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF PROMINENT MEN—SENATOR CHARLES CURTIS.

Topeka, Kan.—There is little enough in the residence of United States Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas to suggest the nomadic life of his ancestors, the Kaw Indians. Senator Curtis' home is situated in one of the most exclusive residence sections of Topeka. He enjoys in this residence, which he purchased one year ago at a cost of about $15,000, a happy home life. Mrs. Curtis is essentially a home woman, devoted to works of charity and giving much of her time to the church. They have two daughters, both at home, and Miss Dolly Curtis, sister of the senator, lives with them. She is private secretary to the senator and is a woman of attainments and much political shrewdness. Senator Curtis has no other residence in which he lives here. For many years his residence was in North Topeka, but in the great flood of 1903 the water damaged the residence there badly, and after that he moved away. He has considerable property here, his parents having been members of the Kaw Indian tribe, and thus having controlled considerable property in an early day.

Senator Curtis, of course, spends little of his time in Topeka or in Kansas, except during the recesses of congress. Although new in the senate, he has represented the First Kansas district in congress for a number of years, up to the time of his elevation to the higher body.

About the Size of It.

"Anyway," said her husband's wife, "you can't accuse me of prolonging arguments." "That's right, my dear," replied his wife's husband. "You merely set your foot down on it and that covers the entire ground."

No. 444w

MISS CORA DOUSSANG, NATIONAL PRESIDENT OF THE SIGMA TAU PSI SORORITY AND MISS LOUISE FIELD, NATIONAL SECRETARY, BOTH OF CHICAGO.

The boys and girls of high schools and preparatory schools the country over are deeply interested in the declaration of war by the Chicago board of education upon high school fraternities and sororities. Chicago's threat to officially put the lid on any secret fraternal organization has met with a storm of protest from the pupils for the development and expansion of high school and preparatory school fraternities and sororities has been universal. These organizations now have national alliances, just as do their adult brothers and sisters. The national and fraternities live in Chicago and they are putting up a particularly strenuous objection to the Chicago banishment because they fear its reflection on all of the branches of their organizations, spread out across the country.

Chicago is not a leader, however, in the anti-frat war. It seems to be but following in a wave which is sweeping the country. The great question behind its success, however, is whether boys and girls can be subjected to such serious discipline in matters entirely outside school curriculum and involving outside hours.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF PROMINENT PEOPLE—MAUDE ADAMS AT HER CHARMING SUMMER HOME AT RONKONOMA, LONG ISLAND.

There is no spot in the world where the famous actress, Maude Adams, enjoys herself a smooch as at her summer home at Ronkonoma, Long Island. This charming place speaks well for the taste of this beloved American actress. Miss Adams appears at her best here and everyone with whom she comes in contact likes her the better at this time of informality in her summer home. The home itself is sumptuous and provided with every luxury. It is estimated to have cost between $25,000 and $30,000. One of the chief sources of delight to Miss Adams is the large porch, on which she spends much of her time. In addition to this she has a large roomy library, where she can be found every morning answering her correspondence and attending to the details of a busy life of reading her favorite books, or perhaps looking over plays which have been submitted for her selection.

The grounds surrounding this home are extensive and artistically laid out. There are many shady nooks which appeal to her many friends who come to spend a week's end with her.

The strenuous winter months are compensated for by the few brief and happy days of rest and recreation which Miss Adams enjoys at her beautiful summer home. Frequently she journeys to the metropolis during this time, but for the most part her greatest joy is to spend her time at home.
